GETTING DOWN TO WORK.

The Boys Get Another From Anson and His Team. PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

CHICAGO, June 12-Red ants crawled all over the game the Chicago team put up this afternoon. It was a nauseating exhibition, it made the spectators look about for a place to lie down. Captain Anson looked red and angry. His men played without life or spirit. The visitors took the lead from the jump, and were never hard pressed. Hutchinson was such a large pudding that the Jonahs ied off him for eight weary innings. The blages on Sommer's fingers were rusty and the infield was as full of holes as a porous plaster. APPLAUDED THE BOYS.

When the spectators saw that the home team was beaten they applauded the visitors and gave Anson some savage thrusts. The other day, when Indianapolis was here, the autocrats of the bleachers informed the old man that he was full of scrap iron. To-day these sar critical and observing patrons of the great game told Anson that he ought to get off the face of the earth. These gratuitous announce ments which have come from the circus cats with increasing regularity ever since the Chicages swam back through the soup from the East were probably made during moments of great mental anguish.

The visitors scored in the first on a single by Miller and a three-bagger by Maul. In the second inning they piled up six runs on errors by Ryan. Van Haltren and Burns, a passed ball, singles by Carroll and Sunday, and a homerun drive by Kuchne when two men were on bases.

CARROLL SCORED

in the fourth on his two-base drive to center and a long single by Beckley.

In the sixth little Miller made the circuit on a single, a passed ball, and a two-bagger by a single, a passed ball, and a two-bagger by Beckley The last run scored by the visitors was made in the eighth, when Sunday sprinted along the lines on his single to center, a steal to second, and a low throw by Pfeffer to catch him at the plate.
The Chicagos staggered through their nine

A LOT OF PARALYTICS.

Duffy scored in the first inning on a ground ball that caught Ryan at second, and singles by Auson and Pfeffer. Nothing more was done until the fifth inning, when Burns pro voked a feeble, clannish cheer by driving the ball over the north wall for a home run. In the seventh the home team earned three runs on singles by Farrell, Burns and Ryan, a double by Sommers and a sacrifice by Hutchinson. After that the Chicagos did not get a man to second base.

The game was so one-sided from the start that little interest was manifested in the re-

NO RACE AFTER ALL.

It Looks as Though the English Yachtsme Will Back Out.

NEW YORK, June 12-After all the talk and correspondence about an international yacht race it looks as if the Royal Yacht Squadron race it looks as if the Royal Yacht Squadron were going to back out of its agreement or rather as if Lord Dunraven has refused to allow the Valkyrie to sail for the America's cup against the Volunteer. It was reported last night that a member of the New York Club had received a letter from George L. Watson, in which Watson said that it had been decided not to send the Valkyrie to compete for the America's cup, but to fit her out at once for her racing in English waters is now over, so that she could sail on her ocean trip for New York on July I and arrive in time to meet the yachts on the New York Yacht Club's cruise. The Valkyrie will sail in the races for the Yachts on the New York Yacht Club's cruise, The Valkyrie will sail in the races for the Paine cup later on, as her owner agreed to do before the America's cup challenge was sent. Yachtsmen who heard of the alleged contents of Watson's letter believed that he had per-suaded Lord Dunraven that it would be folly to race his boat against the Volunteer when the Valkyrie has shown herself so life. the Valkyrie has shown berself so lit-tile superior to the Irex. The Americus cup committee have received no official re-sponse to their letters to the Royal Yacht Squadron and there is much disappointment among yachtsmen at the probable failure of the arrangements for a race.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW.

The General Management of Affairs at Johnstown Transferred

TO THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES. Thousands of Workmen Are Paid Off and Depart for Their Homes.

NEW CONTRACTORS TO TAKE HOLD And Work, Which Was Suspended Testerday, Will be Resumed To-Day by 2,500 Men.

The management of the work at Johnstown was turned over to Adjutant General Hastings yesterday. The change was made without friction. The laborers who have been employed were paid off, and the majority of them left the town. General Hastings says he intends to push things, and that he will have 2,500 men at work to-day. Some dissatisfaction is caused by the reduction of wages.

IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 12 .- To-morrow morning ex-Director James B. Scott, accompanied Colonel J. M. Schoonmaker, H. E. Collins, George A. Kelly, R. H. Johnston and the remainder of his able lieutenants, will leave for Pittsburg, after having turned everything over to the representatives of the State who assumed charge to-day. The city is now really under martial law for all practical purposes. Adjutant General Hastings is in command, and everything is subject to his dictation and orders. The general headquarters have been changed from Fourth avenue, Johnstown, to the

The 7,000 or more laborers who have been working for the past week were paid off, and as soon as they received their money, were marched to the Pennsylvania Railroad and Baltimore and Ohio Railroad depots and shipped to Pittsburg. Those who did not have positions in that city awaiting them, and wanted to stay here were allowed to do so, but few of them re-

An Army of Laborers Departs.

Unless the new contractors bring hundreds of men with them they will find it a hard task to get along. The large army of men who were here to-night are now conspicuous by their absence. There was little friction to-day caused by the change of government. At 7 o'clock the men were marched out of their tents as if they were going to work. They carried with them their camp equipage and collected their tools at their various places of work. They then marched to the places designated by Colonel Hill, the General Quartermaster, where all their stores were turned over to him. The men then proceeded to the pay windows at the use, where they were paid at the rate of 37 per minute, or about 2,200 per

Colonel J. M. Schoonmaker stood at a as they came up and received the various amounts due them. It took a little less than four hours to pay the men, and everything passed off without the slightest jar or friction. Very few mistakes were made, and as soon as discovered they were recti-fied. Before the men were paid off Quartermaster Hill receipted for them. Things Begin to Look Brighter.

It is expected that the money spent will be reimbursed by the State. With the new system which went into effect this after noon everything was turned over by Dictator Scott to the military authorities, who gave receipts for it. The situation will grow better day by day under the new mar

Adjutant General Hastings said this afternoon that the intention was to have regular course of business management re sumed as rapidly as possible. He stated that there was no martial law or military direction beyond that necessary to aid and support the local government. The keynote will be the resumption of work at the Cambria Iron Works and the opening of the general store, which took place to-day. In an interview Colonel J. M. Schoonmaker, the wealthy coke operator of Pitts burg, said:

Throughout the whole business there is Throughout the whole Dusiness there is a natural necessity in the situation. It is somewhat akin to the feeling of one going back to old-time associates. The destruction of property, the confusion and death scenes naturally recall similar experiences of 25 years ago, during the war.

It seems to me like living over again that portion of my life. At that time I was accustomed to handle large numbers of men under similar circumstances, and I naturally fell into the old way of doing things. My hope is that it will be to the satisfaction of those who so generously contributed to the relief of the stricken con contributed to the relief of the stricken com-munity. I am without words to describe the feelings of gratification and pride at their lib-eral response to the call from the now deso-late region.

I am of opinion that the situation would not have been so bad but for the contracted con-dition of the streams which alternately held the waters back. The encroachments upon the river banks above Johnstown had the effect of confining the water to a very narrow channel. When the dam burst the waterways naturally could not carry off this great volume of water, which overflowed their banks. I see it stated that the members of the South Fork Fishing Club have been charged with gross criminal negligence in allowing such a large volume of water to be held in check by a not over-strong breastwork.

The Colonel Talks About the Dam.

I think that if the faintest suspicion had existed in the minds of the people who composed the membership of the club, they would not for one moment have consented to leave the dam in a weakened condition. Such men as H. C. Frick, Charles J. Clarke, Henry Holdship, and others like them, would rather have lost every dollar they had in the world than to think they would, in anywise, be partly responsible for any loss of life that might occur. Had they thought that the dam would likely break and cause destruction of life and property they would have ordered it torn down without a moment's hesitation.

The contractors who take charge of the work to-morrow are James McKnight, gen-eral foreman of Booth & Flinn; Coburn & Stewart, of Altoona; McLain & Co., Balti-more, and Ryan & McDonaid of Phila-delphia. To-morrow morning General Hastings expects to have 2,500 men at work. When it was found that few men intended day and board themselves, a hasty consulta-tion was held and it was thought best to yield a point before the men left, as it would be difficult to induce them to return. It was announced, therefore, that they would be paid $1 50 and would be furnished rations as before. The notice was too late, however, and but few, comparatively, re-

THE TRAIN MEN ARE UNDER ARREST.

Mismanagement.

In a collision near Armagh, Ireland, yesterday, 72 persons were killed. They were excursionists who were out on a picnic expedition. Those alleged to be responsible for the disaster are under arrest.

DUBLIN, June 12 .- A train containing an excursion party from Armage was wrecked near that place. The train contained 1,200 persons, composed of Methodist Sunday school scholars, composed of Methodist Sunday school scholars, their teachers and relatives. They were going on an excursion to Warren Point.

Seventy bodies have been taken from the wreck and there are others buried under the debris. Warren Point, the place where the party was bound, is a watering place at the mouth of the Newry river, in County Down. The following particulars have been received in regard to the accident to the excursion train: The excursion party left Armagh this morning in two trains. The accident occurred at a point where the trains had to ascend a grade on a bank 50 feet high. The first train ascended the grade without trouble. The second section attempted the ascent, but the weight of the train proved too great for the engine.

Several cars were detached and allowed to run back toward the level track, but before they reached it they came in collision with an ordinary train from Armagh, which was proceeding at a good rate of speed. The excursion cars were completely wrecked. The scene which ensued was heartrending. Hosts of volunteers were soon at hand, and the dead and wounded were taken from the wreck and and wounded were taken from the wreck and carried down the bank.

Medical aid was called for, and a special train from Belfast brought to the scene 20 surgeons and a number of medical men from other places between Belfast and Armagh. The disaster is unparalleled in the railroad history of Ireland. The accident has cast a gloom over Armagh. All the shops were closed this afternoon, and the people are in general mourning.

The engineer, fireman and guard of the train and the traffic manager's clerk were summone before a magistrate, and were remanded on the charge of being responsible for the acci-dent. The brake power of the engine of the third train was inadequate. While the second train was ascending the incline the engineer remarked to the fireman: "I am afraid we can't do it," The following train was com-mencing the ascent when the engineer saw the can't do it." The following train was com-mencing the ascent when the engineer saw the runaway cars. Shutting off the steam and re-versing the lever the engineer and fireman jumped from the engine, shouting to the passengers to do likewise. The latter, how-ever, not hearing the cries did not obey them. No one was injured on that train.

Struck With Plenty of Force. The engine was hurled 60 feet down an em bankment. The carriage that ran into the engine was shattered to splinters, and fragments of dress, umbrellas, etc., were scattered hunof dress, umbrellas, etc., were scattered hundreds of yards. A dozen corpses were found beneath the engine in a parboiled condition. Some of the occupants of the runaway cars tried to escape, but the doors were locked. The front part of the train started back in pursuit of the runaway cars, and the passengers saw the collision at a distance of 300 yards.

A car driver named Hughes, who visited the scene of the disaster, was so horrifled at the sight that he died on the spot. His corpse was taken to Armagh in his own car. Another account of the disaster says that the engineer of the second train finding his engine powerless to pull the train up the steep grade, unlinked sev-

Heavy stones were placed behind the wheels of the detached cars to prevent them from slipping, but the locomotive on restarting gave the entire train a shunt that displaced the stones. The result was that the detached cars began to slip backward down the grade, their speed gradually increasing until they had attained a frightful velocity. After running four miles they crashed with terrific force into the third train at a point a mile and a half from the third train at a point a mile and a half from

The children bore their injuries with great patience. Wrecking gangs are at work clearing away the debris. A private of the Irish Fusileers, before the collision, jumped on the foot plate of one of the cars and dropped four children to the ground. He then offered to as-sist others to escape, but his offer was refused. In many cases whole families were killed. rowds of people are visiting the scene of the isaster, and the air is rent with their lamenta-children paraded through the streets of Armagh with flags and banners, and the townsfolk turned out almost en masse to wish them a happy holiday. The party of excursionists included ministers, teachers, the parents of some of the children.

Many Different Accounts. The accident happened opposite Sir Capel Molyneaux's establishment on the Belfast road. The passengers give different accounts of the accident, but they all complain bitterly of the stupidity of those in charge of the wrecked train, who they say, tried to block the wheels of the detached cars with pebbles. The wheels of the detached cars with pebbles. The train consisted of 15 carriages. The bulk of the children were in the front portion of the train. Only about a dozen children were killed. The majority of the victims were about 20 years. They were in the last carriage which was completely smashed.

Many of the occupants jumped from the windows and escaped with slight injuries hefore the collision. The passengers on the hind train were not injured. They alighted and assisted in the work of relief. The scenes on the identification of victims by friends or relatives were painful in the extreme. All the bodies have now been taken from the wreck. The total killed is 72, of which 64 have been identified.

READY FOR BUSINESS.

Keystone Democrats are Organizing for Future State Campaigns-Their Hopes of Success - Nothing to do With Prohibition.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. PHILADELPHIA, June 12-Chairman Elliot P. Kisner, of the Democratic State Committee, presided at a conference at the young Demo ratic battalion headquarters this afternoon cratic battalion headquarters this afternoon with the purpose of perfecting the State organization. Chairman Kisner has great hopes in the future, which are shared by many Democrats, who are counting on a prohibition reaction as the result of next Tuesday's election. They are looking toward the State Treasurership as the goal to which their immediate efforts must be directed. This is made a special matter for consideration at a series of private meetings that are being held in different parts parts of the Commonwealth. The members of the executive committee of the Democratic State Committee are supposed to give par-State Committee are supposed to give par-icular attention to their respective sections of Sheriff Charles H. Krumbhser, who represents Philadelphm on the Executive Committee, has been essnessly co-operating with Chairman Kisner in covering the work hereabouts. Among the others present were Daniel F. Qulliman, Chairman of the Montgomery County Committee; Lewis A. King, Chairman of the Chester County Committee; J. Monroe Sellenberger, Chairman of the Bucks County Committee, and John Johnson, Chairman of the local city committee.

Committee, and John Johnson, Chairman of the local city committee.

Similar meetings have recently been held at Harrisburg and Allentown, where the committee chairmen of the surrounding counties have been in consultation with Chairman Kisner and the executive committeemen. After to-day's gathering separated the participants agreed in declaring that the meeting had no significance as regards next Tuesday's election. They said they confined their discussion to matters generally relating to perfecting the organization, though admitting that it was decided that all hands must turn in and help carry the suffrage amendment.

hands must turn in and help carry the surrage amendment.

The main object of their coming together, however, they stated, was to secure, as far as practicable, a uniform time for organization work. The disadvantages of the present system were pointed out by the State Chairman and remedies suggested. The election of delegates to State conventions and of members of county committees, it was agreed, should be held at about the same time throughout the State. In Philadelphia the delegate elections take lace in January, although the State Conven-ions are not held until July or August. Some ounties choose State delegates in the fail at counties choose State delegates in the last at the County Conventions when county nominations are made. It was thought that a change which would fix a uniform time for the election of State delegates and the organization of county committees, would lead to a more widespread interest in party work.

LIGHTNING'S MAD ANTICS.

It Knocks Men About, Killing One, Then Attacks a Supper Table. [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE.]

NEW YORK, June 12.-Herman Mattis, who was killed by lightning last evening in Newark, edge of the meadows in Avenue C. He observed that rain was beating into a window and served that rain was beating into a window and went to close it. As he was pulling down the sash lightning struck an iron leader pipe running from the roof down the side of the building, two feet from the window. The current left the pipe, passed through his body, killing him instantly, and then went through the floor into the boiler room. The furnace door was closed and latched, but the lightning threw it wide open. From there it apparently skipped through the beam house, where several men were fleshing hides. They were knocked right and left, but none of them were seriously hurt. In Riley's tannery, adjoining that of Salomon, three men were stunned and they did not fully recover for an hour. A horse hitched to a three men were stunned and they did not fully recover for an hour. A horse hitched to a wagon in the yard of a slaughter house a few feet from the tannery was struck and the hair was singed from one of its hind legs. The driver was tambled out of the wagon. The lightning lit up all the electric lamps in the Mutual Benefit Insurance Company's building for an instant during the storm.

The Newark News says Edwin Gorsuch, of 256 Bank street, one of its compositors, had a strange experience with a ham, It had been nicely boiled and lifted from the pot to a dish, a steel carving fork had been inserted, and Mr. Gorsuch was sharpening a knife to carve it.

Gorsuch was sharpening a knife to carve it, when a strong odor of sulphur became ap-parent and he turned to see the fork making a circular excursion toward the floor, where stood upright, while the ham, neatly skinned, started at a railroad speed for the end of the table. The labor-saving streak of lightning confined its operations to the ham and the A CRIME FOR A FORTUNE.

Antoine Schwarzwalder Commits Bigamy In Order to Obtain $250,000 CEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR 1 BELLEVILLE, ILL., June 12 .- A queer romance developed here to-day upon the receipt of a telegram from New York chargthat Antoine Schwarzwalder, a wellknown inventor, of this city, had been made a defendant in New York in a criminal prosecution for bigamy. He left Belleville for Europe last December for the purpose of collecting $250,000, which he told his wife that he had inherited in Bayaria. While abroad he met a Miss Stark, whom it is alleged he mar-ried. They returned here two weeks ago and Schwarzwalder told his legal wife that he was compelled to marry the woman in order to get the money which, by the way, he had not yet collected. He kept the two wives together for a week and then left for New York with his latest acquisition, leaving his legal wife and children here.

The Belleville wife says her husband, who she asserts is a German Count, was compelled she asserts is a German Count, was compelled to commit bigamy to secure the fortune. His grandmother controlled the boodle, and vowed to disinherit him unless he married according to her wishes. Schwarzwalder proposes to have his first wife procure a divorce and pay her from his fortune, if he secures it, but denies that he has deliberately used the second wife, who is said to be the daughter of a wealthy manufacturer of Munich, to further his schemes.

FUN WITH THE FACULTY. Cornell Students and Professors Indulge in a Jolly Game of Ball.

PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 ITHACA, June 12.—The faculty rather sur prised the Cornell students this afternoon by beating the Zeti Pai fraternity nine by a score of 35 to 4. Many old college players of note were on the professors' nine, and the way they batted indicated that their right arms had not lost their cunning. Instructor Dennis pitched a strong game. Prof. Kemp, of the geology department, was solid as a rock on first base. Dean H. S. White, the German scholar, formerly known as Jack White, Harvard's most famous catcher, held down second base in great shape and batted like a catapult. He was cheered tremendously.

Instructor Noyes played short stop, and Prof. E. P. Roberts, of the electrical faculty, did some lively work at third base. The phenomenon of the faculty here was Prof. Brainard C. Smith, professor of journalism and oratory. The way he would square himself, glare through his spectacles and line out a ball would have appalled a League pitcher. Prof. Smith's baseball reputation is made in these parts. He covered left field in faultless style. Instructor Nelligan, of the gymnasium, was on his native heath on the diamond. The Zeti Psi boys thought the professors were too old to play ball, but their opinion is changed now. The faculty nine will play the Varsity team next week as one of the attractions of commencement and for the benefit of athletics. The Cornell students are proud of their faculty nine, and want to back them against any other faculty nine in America.

WEST POINTERS LOOSE. The Gay Cadets Have a Time at the Blg

Metropolis. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, June 12 .- The West Point adets came to town to-night and came pretty near owning it before they were through. The good natured rivalry between the graduating class and the furlough class led them to try to outdo each other in booming things at the Casino and the Broadway Theater. The graduates went to see "The Oolah" 48 strong with a lot of see "The Oolah" 48 strong with a lot of professors and captains and lieutenants. They filled four central rows near the footlights. One of the cadets sent his cadet cap to Marie Jansen before the curtain rose. She wore the cap in the first act. The cadets bombarded her with bouquets when she sang the piquant solo, "Be Good."

The Casino had 65 of the cadets, and they made the occasion picturesque by marching to the theater in their dandy uni-forms of gray with gold buttons.

FREEMASONS' HALL, FIFTH AVENUE.

ARTISTICALLY SUCCESSFUL-

But the Attendance on the Retter Benefit Concert Was Discouragingly Light. The benefit concert tendered Mr. Carl Better by the May Festival chorus and his many friends as an appreciation of his energetic work, which was so conducive to the success of the festival, was given at Old City Hall last evening to an audience regrettedly small. A large number of tickets were sold to people who did not attend, and it was, therefore, impossible to estimate the financial returns which Mr. Retter will receive. The concert will not an appreciable sum, however. The chorus oc cupied the stage, and although considerably cupied the stage, and although considerably decimated in size, sang with vigor and effect. The selections allotted to the chorus were the familiar "Tannhauser March" and the "Spinning Chorus," from the "Flying Dutchman:" the Hallelujah Chorus" from Beethoven's "Mount of Olives," and the "Heavens Arc Telling," Haydn, for a trio and chorus. The piano accompaniments, although capably rendered by Mr. Joseph H. Gittings, were somewhat inadequate to the volume of sound. Encores were not wanting, however. ores were not wanting, however.

The vocal solos and soloists were as follows:

"Longing," "Goodnight," Rubenstein, Miss Grace Miller; "Ever With Thee," Raft, Miss Agnes Vogel; "Oh, Vieni al Mare," Donizetta, Mrs. J. E. Porter, and all received well-merited commendation. In the "Flying Dutchman" excerpt the solo parts were sung by Mrs. E. A. Sawyer and Miss Agnes Vogel, and the trio in the "Heavens Are Telling" Miss Agnes Vogel, Mr. C. H. Seidl and Mr. D. M. Bullock sustained the solo scores.

The playing of Messrs. Salmon and Gittings in the "Saint Saens Variations on a Beethoven Theme" was brilliant to the last degree, and the two grand planes spoke with one voice. the two grand pianos spoke with one voice. The rendition of a scene from Carl Retter's original opera, "1778," created as much applause as it had aroused curiosity. The scene was given by Mr. and Miss Vogel and Mr. Bullock, with Mr. Gittings at the piano, and was the first opportunity given Pittsburgers to hear Mr. Retter's operatic work. The scene was heartily encored. A bit of amusement not down on the bills re-sulted in the duo for two violins, Miss Mamie Reuck and Herr Franz Wilczeks being the per-formers. Herr Wilczeks is the personification of nervousness, while Miss Reuck is the exact opposite. Herr Wilczek's music stool fell down when he tried to raise it, and he left the stage in a huff, but was induced to go back and finish the performance.
